

Emily Judson

Emily Judson is a member of GKE's Exemplary American University Student team and a GKE intern. She has presented on technology-assisted learning internationally as well as in United States regional and national venues. She has published several articles for PBS Online, the Jim Lehrer Newshour, and Technology and Learning magazine.

Her presentation experiences include speaking at the Singapore Ministry of Education's International Pacific Rim Educational Conference, the "Improving America's Schools" Conference sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education in Tampa, Florida, SchoolTech Expo, to IBM, the Dell Corporation, and NJAET. She testified as an expert witness before the Congressional Commission on Web-Based Education in Washington, D.C. in 2000.

She is a former student Editor-in-Chief of Electric Soup, an online literary magazine, as well as a past Poetry, Free Write, and Asbury Park feature editor. She also held the position of Directing Editor for Vibrations, a thematic multimedia magazine. Additionally, Emily was a member of the American Technology Honor Society where she achieved that society's most prestigious and highest rank of Scholar. Emily acted as Treasurer on the society's executive board. She was also a member of the Spanish Honor Society and the National Honor Society at Hunterdon Central High School.

Emily Judson is currently a senior at the University of Delaware where she is majoring in Business Administration with minors in International Business and Economics. Her internship at Johnson & Johnson's Pharmaceutical Research & Development in the IM & IT internal communications department sparked her interest in international business. She has been on Dean's List every semester and is a UD Scholar. In the Spring of 2003, Emily received the Department of Business Administration's Distinguished Junior Award. As a member of the Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society, she actively works as chair of the Service Committee and does several volunteer projects. She is in the University Honors Program and will graduate with an honors degree.